Isfahan in the square of demanding rights and protesting the riots

Imam Hossein (AS) square in Isfahan witnessed a passionate and meaningful scene today. In the «to death gathering for Iran», thousands of people of this city, while emphasizing livelihood problems and high prices, drew a clear border between «protests against domestic economic issues and .«disturbances designed by the enemy with unifying slogans

According to the political group analytical news base «Sahib News»; Today, Imam Hossein (AS) Square in Isfahan became an important arena for expressing a necessary separation. Men and women, young and old, gathered in a magnificent gathering titled «to the death for Iran» to show, according to themselves, the difference between «protests arising from internal concerns and » planned enemy disturbances. This gathering, which was formed in response to the recent statements of American officials and in the atmosphere of regional developments, was a scene of a social complexity: people who simultaneously complained about economic problems and emphasized their unconditional loyalty to their homeland .and ideals. they did

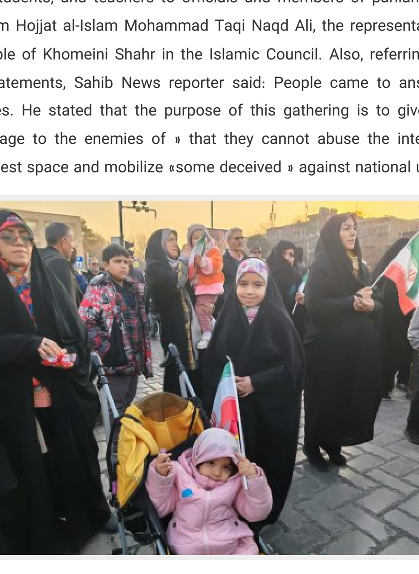

The evening air of Isfahan was full of the smell of decorated palm trees in the square and the noise of slogans that shouted in unison: «death to America», «death to Israel», «Labik or Seyed Ali». Among these slogans, smart phrases were also heard: «we protest against this society, Trump after sedition and sedition» or «launch of any satellite, badge of honor». These slogans showed that the present population is not a one-dimensional population, but an informed and message-oriented population that wants to express its dissatisfaction with the current situation and tell the enemies the right to interfere and create disturbances in our country. .do not have

In the continuation of this glorious presence, Heshmatullah Ghanbari, a researcher of Islamic history, as the main speaker of this gathering, by analyzing the developments in the region, rejected the claim of the enemies that their main issue is the nuclear issue and said: «The enemies openly declared the issue Their main issue is overthrowing the Islamic Republic system, creating a puppet government, dividing Iran and humiliating the nation.» Ghanbari called the large presence of people «a symbol of independence, dignity and national unity» and considered it a clear message to stand against «conspiracies of the global domination system». Referring to the country's internal capabilities and scientific and defense advances, he emphasized: «The enemy realized that Iran is not a «.fortress that can be conquered

In this ceremony, which was attended by different sections of the people, from illiterate and common people to professors and university presidents, students, students, and teachers to officials and members of parliament, among them Hojjat al-Islam Mohammad Taqi Naqd Ali, the representative of the people of Khomeini Shahr in the Islamic Council. Also, referring to Trump's statements, Sahib News reporter said: People came to answer these «jokes. He stated that the purpose of this gathering is to give «a clear message to the enemies of » that they cannot abuse the internal .protest space and mobilize «some deceived » against national unity

In the crowd, thought-provoking scenes could be seen. A young mother was holding the hand of her four-year-old son «Hossein». Hossein said with a sweet Isfahani accent: «I also came to this rally to defend my «.country and my leader

A ۷۶-year-old man with a determined face expressed his motivation for his presence as follows: «I came to punch Trump in the mouth so that he doesn't talk anymore.» These images were a symbol of the continued .connection of generations with the concepts of the revolution

But the interesting thing was the double and frank expression of many people about domestic and foreign issues. «Rezaei», a ۶۰-year-old man, clearly said: «I have come to defend my honor, religion and country and tell the enemies that although we are not satisfied with the economic conditions, we will defend our country until the last drop of our blood.» This sentence was perhaps the complete summary of the spirit governing the gathering: dissatisfaction with the status quo, but not at the cost of .playing into the hands of the enemy

Next «Azizqoli Naseri», who attended this gathering in authentic Bakhtiari clothes and introduced himself as a resident of Chaharmahal and Bakhtiari and a resident of Isfahan, spoke in an aggressive tone to foreign enemies and mentioned the people's stand in the past wars. But in the middle of his speech, he also gave a direct address to the officials: «We ask the government, parliament, and judiciary to plan and help and solve this livelihood of the people and these demands of the people that are in place .and solve the problem of high prices. root out

A middle-aged woman who introduced herself as «in the sixties and with her children, presented an interesting analysis: « I have come to say that protest is the right of all people, but the disturbance of water is pouring .into the enemy's mill and makes our protest remain unsaid
He continued: We are the support of the revolution and our leader and we ask the authorities to solve our problems.» This statement clearly showed that a part of the social body is looking for a way to express .dissatisfaction without falling into alien scenarios

Today's gathering in Isfahan can be considered as an example of «collective intelligence in the complex political and social atmosphere of Iran. On the one hand, economic and livelihood pressures have fed up the society and raised the voice of protest. On the other hand, the maximum pressure of foreign enemies and subversive literature have awakened the instinct to defend the country's territorial integrity and independence .among a wide group

The people present in Imam Hussain (AS) square tried to combine these two seemingly conflicting propositions with their presence. They said: «Yes, we have a problem and we complain about high prices and mismanagement» (this is the protest). But at the same time they shouted: «, but these problems will never throw us into the arms of an enemy who intends to humiliate and divide Iran» (this is the answer to the disturbance). They showed the world that they could be critics, without, .willy-nilly, becoming actors in alien schemes

Smart slogans about satellite launch also emphasized that the people consider the scientific and military progress of the country, despite all the problems, as a factor for national honor and are not ready to give it up .under foreign pressure

Today's passionate gathering in Isfahan carried double and important .messages
For foreign enemies, the message was that the maximum pressure not only did not isolate the Iranian nation, but in some cases strengthened the sense of unity and national resistance. The design of strong anti-American and anti-Zionist slogans showed that this discourse has depth among a .part of the people
For domestic officials, however, the message was clearer. The people who, despite all the pressure, have taken to the streets to defend the system as a whole, clearly and sometimes with a certain accent, demand that their .livelihood problems be addressed urgently

They expressed their «protest in a completely internal and systematic format and asked the authorities to take action to resolve it. To put it simply, people told the officials: «We pay the heavy costs of confronting «.the enemy, now you fulfill your duties towards our livelihood
